ATLANTIC CITY, July 80 .-- Baron Jacques de St. Marc, whose American wife is the stepdaughter of G. Jason Waters, and until she became Baroness was Miss Ellen Nixon Waln, is very fond of the surf bathing here. He has also found time to observe the American bathing girl. On this subject he says:

"The ladies here wear rather short skirts when they go bathing, while at the French seaside resorts their robes touch the ground. In France they wear such loose robes and so much fluffy stuff about the bodice that a person can't tell anything about their figures.

"Here they are dressed like chorus girls; that is, they have skirts that are about six inches long in some instances. It is only to show themselves. But I don't think it is improper.

"But there is one thing that I cannot comprehend, and that is, Why do the American ladies put on so much clothing when they go out? They simply spoil their figures by harnessing themselves in awfully stiff corsets and other paraphernalia, high collars that choke them and slippers that have held about two index blank helds about two index blank. have heels about two inches high.

"There surely can be no comfort when rigged up in so much unnecessary stuff. But it is only proof of what I have said—they dress to be stared at.

"When I first visited this beach and saw a lady standing statuelike in the soft sand garbed in a lavender peau de sole robe and picture hat, I asked a friend who was with me if the American ladies go bathing dressed like that, and my friend smiled and said:

" 'No, when they dress like that they only stroll on the beach to be admired; to make other ladies, the less daring ones, jealous

That is where the French ladies display their wisdom—their superior sense. They don a bathrobe and nothing else. They journey to the shore for a bath in the water, not for a bath in the heat of the sun. The rhythmic posturing of girls on this beach is such a contrast to the European analogue."

The Italian Ambassador to America. Baron Mayer des Planches, who has leased a pretty cottage at Pacific and California avenues in Chelsea, will remain until the middle of October. The Ambassador expects to live quietly during his sojourn

R. Borghetti, the first assistant secretary to the Ambassador, and his assistant, Centero Roberto, have taken apartments at a nearby hotel and will remain with him during his stay here.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kirkman, Miss Anna
B. Kirkman, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Gordon and Miss Estel Gordon came all the way from Mobile, Ala., in a big automobile to spend the summer here. W. J. Benner, the professional of the Frankford Golf Club, played a friendly match on the Northfield links with William D. Robinson, the Atlantic City Country Club's professional. Robinson did the course in 75 for eighteen holes, coming in 6 up. This is two strokes above the record, 73, made by W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburg.

Alfred Hand, a guest from New York at one of the big ocean front hotels, has a great fondness for kites. When the weather is too unpleasant to be outdoors Mr. Hand finds comfort and pleasure in his apartments in making kites of various sizes and shapes.

His kites are of innumerable patterns. They are all of excellent workmanship. The wood used is spruce and the muslin is of strong texture. The muslin is black. Since Mr. Hand started to build kites for Since Mr. Hand started to build kites for the youngsters in his hotel he has become immensely popular with the boys. He is surrounded by a score or more who are anxious to help him whenever he appears on the strand with an aerial product.

These commuters were total strangers before they met daily in the early breakfast room of the hotel. One of them missed his train one morning, and it was suggested by an early riser that a club be formed so that if a member is absent from the dining room the secretary must act as the awakener.

The member that oversleeps must pay a fine of 50 cents. The money collected in fines is paid to the secretary for his labor. The fund thus far is very encouraging for the secretary, and it is stated that a meeting will soon be called for the election of a new secretary, as the term of office is good for but two weeks.

a new secretary, as the term of office is good for but two weeks.

There are four candidates for the office seeking votes. They are Bassel Smith, the present secretary, who has a pleasant "How d'y' do" for everybody; Kelsey Moore, the "first floor champion of rights"; H. H. Kaufmann, a youthful "reader of letters," and M. K. Phillips, an "exponent of economical and political doctrines."

The other early birds are H. O. Deshong, who invariably makes his appearance at United States Senator D. H. Mercer of Omaha, chairman of the committee on public buildings, finds much pleasure in riding in a rolling chair pushed by a North Carolina darky. The Senator thus obtains an excellent panoramic view of the cosmopolitan front of the resort.

That he is popular and known in the East as well as in his home territory is evidenced by his frequent noddings and hand-shakes while riding on the famous prome-nade. The Senator is here with Mrs.

H. N. Pillsbury, the American chess expert, has not been in very good health nce the international tournament at Cambridge Springs. He is here now in the hope that the sea air will prove beneis thought that he will entirely recover by September.

Pillsbury has been kept busy playing friendly games since arriving here. In order not to affect his health by too much nervous strain he plays only three game simultaneously.

"When I was in Moscow," said Pillsbury, "I astonished the Russians by playing twenty-two games simultaneously with the leading amateurs of that interesting town. This was six games more than ever was attempted by any one else in this or any other country."
This fall he expects to make another tour man at his recent wedding with Miss Whelen on account of a sporting engagement on the other side. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney will leave Newport in the middle of the season to go pheasant shooting in Yorkshire, England. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hastings and a great many more prominent people will be in Saratoga for the races. Oyster Bay will be the rendezvous for a crowd of fashionables this week, while the Horse Show there is on.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, who have been at Harbor Hill, their Roslyn, L. I., home since their return from Europe, will go to Saratoga to-morrow, where they have taken a cottage for the racing season.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who sall shortly for Europe, will be absent through the pheasant shooting season, as they were last season. Their party will include Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan of Philadelphia; Edward Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis S. Thompson. The late William C. Whitney bought the estate in Yorkshire, England, a couple of years or more ago.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Schieffelin will go on their annual trip to England in August and will visit their daughters, Mrs. C. Bower Ismay and Mrs. J. Bruce Ismay, at their home in Liverpool. Mrs. Henry G. Trevor, nee Schieffelin, who has been with her sisters of late, will return to this side in a couple of weeks and rejoin her husband, now at his Southampton cottage.

Miss Edith B. Clapp and her mother, Mrs. Devereux Clapp, were at Homburg last week. Miss Clapp will sail late this month from Europe, with Miss Adelaide Townsend Spofford, for this side. Mrs. Clapp may stay to give her personal attention to the trousseau now being made tention to the trousseau now being made in Paris for Miss Clapp. This is for her wedding with Count R. du Temple de Rouge-mont of Paris, which is likely to be a notable event in town just before the Christmas holidays. Miss Clapp's flancé has an old title and the big estate which goes with it. Me-millon is already in his possession as his parents are not living.

Mrs. Isaac A. Singer is now with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Chambers, at Lenox. Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer M. Singer, her son and daughter-in-law, have been located at Home Farm, the Dr. Jacquee place, ever since they went to Lenox after their wed-ding in New York last October.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic J. de Peyster and Miss de Peyster have returned from a few weeks European trip. One of the Misses de Peyster remained on this side to attend the Delafield-White wedding in June as a bridesmaid.

Mrs. Francis H. Leggett and her daughter, Miss Alberta Sturges, are due here from England on Saturday on the Minneapolis. On their arrival they will go to their country place at Stone Ridge, Ulster country, N. Y., for a time.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Duncan Emmet have arranged to pass August at Narragansett Pier. They have been at Niagara Falls and the Lakes.

Dr. and Mrs. Faneuil Suydam Weisse who had a pretty wedding in June, have returned from their honeymoon jaunt and are visiting friends in Morristown before settling down in New York. The parents of Mrs. Weisse, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Young, and their family have decided to go to Washington, D. C., in September and make it their future home.

It seems that Miss Louise A. Benedict and Clifford B. Harmon, whose engagement has been reported, are likely to have a quiet wedding in the autumn, as Mrs. E. C. Benedict is in poor health. Miss Benedict has the same fondness for horses as her sister, Four-in-Hand Club. Mrs. Hastings, who will be in Saratoga for the August races, was a noted whip while still Miss Helen Benedict.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt had as guests for some days at their farm at Portsmouth, before going over to the Monmouth County Horse Show, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Hitt. Mrs. Hitt was one of the bridesmaids who attended Miss Elsie French at her marriage with Mr. Vanderbilt. The couple went at once to Berlin, where Mr. Hitt is one of the secretaries of the American Embassy. He is now off on the long vacation which those in diplomatic posts get every two years Mrs. Hitt's father and stepmother, Judge and Mrs. John Clinton Gray, sailed recently for Europe and will go to Norway and Sweden. They have given up their Newport cottage, occupied so many seasons.

The wedding of Austen R. Grav. one o the sons of Judge and Mrs. Gray, with Miss Alice Burnham of Boston will be an event of the near future. Miss Burnham is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burnham and a niece of John Munroe, the Paris banker.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Dominick of 22 West Fifty-first street, who sailed with their family yesterday for Europe, will make an auto tour through France while away. They passed June and July at their cottage at Monmouth Beach, N. J.

One of the big affairs on is the dinner for which Henry Walters has cards out, to be held on Aug. 18 on his steam yacht Narada. Mrs. Pembroke Jones will re-

There was a fine show of smart traps at Sandy Point, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Vanderbilt, on Friday night, when they gave their first formal enter-tainment since their marriage. Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt has had visiting her of late one of her bridesmaids, now Mrs. Hitt, while Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt has had Miss Isabel May of Washington as her guest

Among those to sail this week for Europe are Mr. and Mrs. George B. Raymond and Mrs. Elliott Smith on next Saturday's steamer. They will be joined on their arrival in England by Miss Leinta Raymond and Charles Haymond, who have been over since May, and after six weeks of travel all will return to this side.

Eugene Higgins will sail on his vacht Varuna for this side on Thursday, and will pay his customary visit to his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks, at Newport. Some special enter-tainment is projected in his honor by the Whippany River Club members. The club is now located in the old Higgins home-stead.

Mr. A. B. Hudson of 500 Madison avenue announces the engagement of his daughter, Mary Belle, to Mr. J. Roberts Coffin of New York. Mr. Coffin is a graduate of the class of '02 of Yale.

IN SOCIETY.

Society is devoting most of its time nowadays to outdoor sports. Alfred G. Vanderbilt tooled a coach along the Jersey shore on Friday, and in consequence he was unable to attend the first formal function given by Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt at Sandy Point Farm on Friday night. Robert Walton Goelet did not assist his cousin Robert Goelet as best man at his recent wedding with Miss Whelen on account of a sporting engagement on the other side. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney will leave Newport in the middle of the season to go pheasant abouting in Verkehire. England Mr. and Mrs. President Hitchcook and his fellows in

President Hitchcook and his fellows in the management of the Saratoga Racing Association are on hand, and the running meeting of twenty-two days will be inaugurated on Monday afternoon. The last race of the season will take place on Aug. 25. Fully 1,000 horses will be gathered here for the meeting. The music in the grand stand will again be supplied by Paul Hunneberg's Twenty-second Regiment Rand

There appears to be no interruption in the demand for furnished cottages for the racing month, and also for the season, and a number of them have been rented during the last few days. The new comers include F. Ambrose Clark of Cooperstown clude F. Ambrose Clark of Cooperstown, N.Y., who has the Lawton cottage on Clinton avenue; Mrs. Samuel Walter of New York, the Churchill cottage on Lake avenue; Hipolite Dumois of New York, the Thomas cottage on Circular street; Duncan B. Cannon of New York, the Andrus cottage on Circular street; Robert McGibben of New York, the Barrett cottage on Nelson avenue; Alexander Shields of New York, the Smith cottage on Spring street; Richard the Smith cottage on Spring street; Richard Reynolds of New York, the Morton cottage on Circular street, and Edward Pearsall of New York, the Doolittle cottage on Court

Joseph J. Gleason and George A. Saportas, both of New York, who own summer places here, are the possessors of speedy auto cars. A few days since they accidentally parallelled each other on an outlying highway, with an open stretch over a couple of Saratoga sandy miles. Without any direct challenge both put on speed and they tore through the air like a double cyclone. It was apparently a dead heat, but Saportas insists that he won.

Applications for rooms are being received by hotels from Republicans for State convention time. While the convention has not as yet been officially called, it is pretty generally understood that it will assemble here on Sept. 14 and remain in session at least two days. The Democratic State convention may meet here the following week.

The floral fête will not be one of Saratoga's spectacular events this year, as the Saratoga Floral Association, acting in conjunction with the Saratoga Business Men's Association, has postponed the festival till the September of 1905. There is talk of holding a midwinter carnival, with tobogganing as the leading feature.

A dozen or so camping parties, with perhaps 300 members in all, are on the lower shore of Saratoga Lake, and fully as many more are due there inside of the next

Chaperoning small boys to Signor Lauelle's circus was the chief occupation last Wednesday afternoon and evening of many city folks sojourning at the big hotels. They will again sacrifice themselves on Aug. 9, when another circus comes to town. Capt. Edward L. Smith of the Saratoga

Polo Club and Col. E. M. Queen of the Saratoga Golf Club are working out the programmes for the August events of these organizations. One week from to-day Kayadeross Park will be the meeting place of 2,500 Modern Woodmen of America. They will rally here from northeastern New York and southern Vermont.

PASTIMES AT LENOX. rennis, Golf, Automobiling Interest the Summer Residents.

LENOX, July 30.-Herbert G. Dering, is the champion tennis player of Lenox. His strongest opponent has been S. Warren Sturgis, a member of the faculty of Groton School, where the sons of President Roosevelt are preparing for college. During a recent match between the cracks, James Barnes, the historical writer, appeared.

"How goes the game?" he called out.

"It takes an American to make the Briton sweat," replied Dering.

J. Egmont Schermerhorn of New York, who is at his country place, has made a systematic investigation of all the roads in Berkshire county, and the result of his tours has been compiled on cards which he has issued for tourists. He has completely abandoned the horse for the motor car and has four large touring cars in his stables.

The remarkable golf played by Malcolm McBurney, son of Dr. Charles McBurney of New York, has been the talk of the week at the clubs. McBurney is short and slight and a little more than 20. He has been playing the game five years at Stockbridge, where his father has a country place, and at

This week he won the gold medal at Great Barrington for the low score in the opening of an invitation tournament, lowered the of an invitation containing, lower the eighteen-hole record at Lenox from 80 to 75 strokes, and broke both amateur and professional records at Stockbridge, mak-ing a tour of the course in 71. The former record was 72, held by Willie Anderson, the open champion.

Mark Twain appreciates white duck clothing. He wears it on his drives about the county. A friend of Twain's in Stockbridge this week told a story of a trip made by the humorist a few years ago in summer over a certain railroad. Its advertising agent importuned Mr. Twain for a testimonial. The humorist wrote:

The most interesting old man in Lenox this summer is Dr. Joseph Berens of Philadelphia. At 93 he walks five miles every day and reads the daily papers without glassee.

He believes the average man eats too much and takes too little exercise. Years sit lightly on him and he would pass for man just entering the seventies. In Lenox the average cottager goes to church on Sunday. It's a day of rest in the hills, broken occasionally by a quiet luncheon, and now and then by a large dinner.

Until last week Sunday sports in Lenox were unheard of. At one of the hotels where were unneared. A toleroften lotten where there are spacious grounds and a golf course, the guests played a golf handicap on Sunday, thereby shocking many cottagers who have denounced the innovation roundly.

W. Murray Crane, Jr., son of ex-Gov. Crane, who is one of President Roosevelt's closest friends, has entered his father's paper mills in Dalton. The heir to the ex-Governor's millions reports at the mills in blue jeans at 7 A. M. and toils until 6 P. M. This method of acquiring a full knowledge of the business has been followed by the Cranes for three generations.

Samuel and Joseph Golding of New York have arrived in Lenox on their annual tour of the resorts. They map out a schedule with the regularity of a theatrical advance agent, remaining to a day at a par-ticular resort and then passing on to their next place of recreation. This has been heir custom for years.

Threatened with the extinction of the Sunday parade from fashionable Trinity Episcopal Church for the Sunday mail, he Lenox cottagers have petitioned the Consolidated Railroad officials for a return of the early Sunday mail. The custom has been to walk from church to the post office for the mail, and a change of schedule brought the mail into Lenox too late to make the march from church to the post office of form a diversion.

The work is carried on under the direction of the committee on trails, of which Dr. Alton is the chairman, and each spring a Alton is the chairman, and each spring a number of men are kept busy for weeks renewing the trails and removing fallen timber from the path. The guides of the Adirondack Mountain Reserve will care for visitors for brief in-tervals at their lodges and a temporary structure has been erected on the site of Adirondack Lodge, where the members of the party may spend a night.

Picnic Point, at Lake Placid, is a favorite rendezvous of pleasure seekers and it is a popular idea to organize a party and go there early in the evening for flapjacks made by the guide while you wait.
